

Journal of Intercultural Studies

Special Issue/Section Proposal

We welcome proposals for special issues or special sections that address our journal aims. Please complete this proposal form and return as an email attachment to paula.muraca@deakin.edu.au

About the Journal:

The Journal of Intercultural Studies showcases innovative scholarship about emerging cultural formations, intercultural negotiations and contemporary challenges to cultures and identities. It welcomes theoretically informed articles from diverse disciplines that contribute to the following discussions:

- ❖ Reconceptualising notions of nationhood, citizenship and belonging;
 - ❖ Questioning theories of diaspora, transnationalism, hybridity and 'border crossing', and their contextualised applications;
 - ❖ Exploring the contemporary sociocultural formations of whiteness, ethnicity, racialization, postcolonialism and indigeneity;
 - ❖ Examining how past and contemporary key scholars can inform current thinking on intercultural knowledge, multiculturalism, race and cultural identity.
-

JICS special issues (and sections) speak to one or more of these criteria, providing focused critical engagement on a given subject, or detailing new lines or methods of inquiry in a field.

Special Issues are comprised of ten original articles (approximately 8000 words) and one guest editorial critical introduction (approximately 3000 words).

Special Sections are comprised of five original articles (approximately 8000 words) and one guest editorial critical introduction (approximately 3000 words).

As guest-editor(s), it is understood that you will:

1. Solicit and vet 10-11 articles of relevance for consideration in the special issue or 5 articles for a special section.
2. Undertake the majority of contributor liaison.
3. Guest Editors are also responsible for Peer Reviewing (double-blind) of papers via the Journal's ScholarOne Manuscript Central website - and make recommendations to Managing Editors post-review regarding direction and nature of revisions required.
4. Guest Editors check revised articles to ensure quality and that authors have addressed referee concerns and JICS style notes. Edit articles for language.

5. Provide a substantial critical introduction (approximately 3000 words) for the special issue/section.
-

Journal of Intercultural Studies: Special Issue Proposal

Please complete this proposal form and return as an email attachment to paula.muraca@deakin.edu.au

DATE OF PROPOSAL:

Please indicate whether you are proposing a Special Issue or a Special Section

Proposed title (must be clear and concise):

Editor/s and position/affiliation:

Please list the guest editor(s) names in the order you would like them to appear.

Editor 1:

Editor 2:

Editor 3:

MANUSCRIPT CONTENTS

Please provide a provisional listing of your special issue, including author names, article titles, and approximate length of each article. If the guest editor[s] will not be writing the Introduction, please indicate the person who will be doing this.

[CUT AND PASTE PROVISIONAL CONTENTS IN HERE]

TOTAL Length of manuscript (number of words):

Tables/maps/illustrations should be kept to a minimum. Please estimate the number of these:

Expected delivery date of articles for peer review:

DESCRIPTION OF CONTENTS:

Please provide a short summary about this special issue, including rationale for research scope and relevance to this journal.

Please provide article titles and abstracts of proposed contents along with author details

Description of editor(s)

Please provide brief author notes (approx. 200 words) for each of the proposed guest editors, including previous editing projects and key publications.

CONTACT INFORMATION:

EDITOR for correspondence:

Address:

Phone:

Email: