Notes for Contributors

Referees and submissions. Sport in Society is a refereed journal. Articles submitted to Sport in Society should be original contributions and should not be under consideration for any other publication at the same time. If another version of the article is under consideration by another publication, or has been, or will be published elsewhere, authors should clearly indicate this at the time of submission. Each manuscript should be submitted in triplicate. Articles should be typewritten on A4/Letter paper, on one side only, double-spaced and with ample margins. All pages should be numbered consecutively. Manuscripts and editorial correspondence should be sent to Boria Majumdar, 203/1 Bidhan Saranee, Calcutta 700 006, India. Email: cristorian@yahoo.com

Reviews. Books for review should be sent to Dr. Emma Poulton, Department of Sport and Health, University of Durham, South End House, Durham, DH1 3TG.

Abstract. An abstract is required and should not exceed 150 words in length.

Author note. Details of the author’s institutional affiliation, full address and other contact information should be included on a separate cover sheet. The custom is without titles, one forename plus surname, but authors may vary this.

Format. Following acceptance for publication, articles should be submitted on high-density 3½ inch disks (IBM PC or Macintosh compatible) in rich text format (.RTF).

Spelling. British spelling should be used throughout as well as –z– rather than –s– endings (organise rather than organise). Jargon is to be avoided.

Figures and illustrations. All photographs, diagrams, charts and graphs (but not tables) should follow the same numerical sequence and be shown as Figure 1, Figure 2 etc. Electronic versions of illustrations and tables may be sent on either CD or disk, preferably either TIFF or JPG formats. If they cannot be prepared electronically, they should be presented on good quality white paper. The approximate position of the tables and illustrations should be indicated in the paper.

Captions. All illustrations should be accompanied by a caption, which should include the figure number, and an acknowledgement to the holder of the copyright. It is the author’s responsibility to ensure the proper permissions are obtained.

Notes and references. The journal uses Chicago Humanities style of referencing, with a reference list. This uses short endnotes, with the full reference in a List of References. This is a system that allows for extensive endnotes, and references to archive sources, but it can consume a great deal of space.

Endnotes. Please use no more than 50 endnotes; neighbouring references should be bunched into a single endnote.

Endnote style

In the text, note reference numbers should appear as square bracketed figures following any punctuation, for example. [1]

At the end, the notes will read:

Reference List. The reference list should include only material cited in the endnotes. Therefore, if the author wishes to include in a reference list some material of ‘further reading’ that the article has not specifically cited, then this should be done by a special endnote. The reference list contains works to which a reader could reasonably be expected to make reference, mainly books and articles. Do not include websites, newspapers, archive records etc.; the endnote will suffice for these.

Reference List is in alphabetical order of surname, as follows:

Copyright. It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or licence the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor & Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors may, of course, use the article elsewhere after publication without prior permission from Taylor & Francis, provided that acknowledgement is given to the Journal as the original source of publication, and that Taylor & Francis is notified so that our records show that its use is properly authorised. Authors retain a number of other rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies documents. These policies are referred to at http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/authorrights.pdf for full details. Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources.

Corresponding authors will receive free online access to their article through our website (www.informaworld.com) and a complimentary copy of the issue containing their article. Reprints of articles published in this journal can be purchased through Rightslink® when proofs are received or alternatively on our journals website.
