

Proposal for a target article

Title (maximum 150 characters):

The title of the target article should be short, informative, and attract interest from both experts in the field and a general audience.

Target article author(s) with affiliations:

Summary of topic (100-200 words):

Please provide a brief synopsis of the subject area to be covered in the target article. The description should explain the importance of the topic, be concise, free of jargon and understandable to a non-specialist.

Explain why the topic is appropriate for a target article (maximum 500 words):

Indicate the new developments that will be presented and discussed, and explain why these are timely

What is the likely impact of the proposed target article? (maximum 300 words):

Please explain the benefits of this issue to the psychological science community and how it could influence future research in this area. If the topic is likely to have wider public interest or influence policy decisions, then provide further details here.

Please provide 5 key references to recent publications in this area.

Are these topics being covered in other publications or in meetings or symposia?
(maximum 300 words):

Why is this project better suited to Psychological Inquiry rather than a more specialist journal or as a book? (maximum 150 words):

List of prospective commentary contributors:

How do you justify the choice of commentary authors?

Please explain your reasoning for the choice of commentary contributors to this issue.

Diversity

We strive for balance and diversity of commentary writers across genders, career stages and geographic location. Please, provide breakdown of each category of prospective commentary writers' below. Please, ensure that the distribution is reasonably balanced across sub-categories (if at all possible).

	Male	Female	Other
Commentary authors' gender (number)

	UK	Rest of Europe	USA & Canada	South/Latin America	Asia	Australasia	Other
Commentary authors' current location (provide number)

	Early (<10 years postgrad)	Mid (10-20 years postgrad)	Senior (>20 years) career stage (number)			